STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

To provide medical care to modern and incurable diseases regarding dental science to the people of Uttar Pradesh by parting with and upgrading the Dental Faculty of King George’s Medical University Lucknow, King George’s University of Dental Sciences has been established. At present there have been established 21 dental colleges in Private Sector, which are affiliated to different Universities, due to which there is no uniformity in examination and courses/syllabus of these colleges resulting no consistency in the field of dental education. After the establishment of King George’s University of Dental Sciences it is necessary to affiliate all dental colleges with dental University to establish uniformity in the examinations system and courses/ syllabus of all dental colleges in the State.

Dental Council of India has suggested the State Government in its letter dated April 11, 2005 that all dental colleges of the State should be affiliated with King George's University of Dental Sciences and this Dental University be given responsibility of Graduate and Post Graduate examinations. After affiliation of all dental colleges with King George's Dental University, Academic Sessions of Graduate and Post Graduate level, will be regularised for the students of whole of the State and all the colleges will be under effective control.

After affiliation of all the dental colleges of State with King George's University of Dental Science, the King George's University of Dental Science will be responsible for selection of teachers according to norms of Dental Council of India, contribution towards education, evaluation of standard of Student's education and regulation of uniformity of examination system which will assist to upgrade the standard of dental education and training in the State.

It has, therefore, been decided to amend the Uttar Pradesh King George's University of Dental Sciences Act, 2004 to affiliate all the dental colleges of State to the King George's University of Dental Science.

The Uttar Pradesh King George's University of Dental Science (Amendment) Bill, 2006 is introduced accordingly.

By order

RAM HARI VIJAY TRIPATHI,
Pramukh Sachiv.
